Plaintiffs,

LYNELLE MAGINLEY-LIDDIE,

Defendant.

STIPULATION AND PROTECTIVE ORDER RE:
CONFIDENTIALITY AND DISCLOSURE

75-CV-3073 (LAP)

WHEREAS, Plaintiffs commenced this action alleging, inter alia, that the conditions of confinement of pre-trial detainees in the custody of the New York City Department of Correction (“DOC”) were unconstitutional and otherwise contrary to law;

WHEREAS, by Order dated April 21, 2001, this Court (the late District Judge Harold Baer, Jr.) entered an order concerning, among other matters, various conditions of confinement in certain of the City’s jails, and reinstituting a Court Monitor, the Office of Compliance Consultants, to assist (“OCC”) the parties in resolving issues and ensuring compliance with the terms of the order (“2001 Environmental Order”);

WHEREAS, the parties and the OCC continue to work on compliance matters related to the 2001 Environmental Order, which include the exchange of documents, responding to inquiries, and other discovery-related matters;

WHEREAS, this Stipulation and Protective Order is intended to allow the producing party to designate documents and information as confidential that are not otherwise protected, and to limit the use and re-disclosure of those documents or that information;

WHEREAS, the Parties also intend to execute a proposed Stipulation and Order Re: Clawback Agreement, setting forth the procedures to be used for the return of documents and information mistakenly or inadvertently produced in this action; and

WHEREAS, good cause exists for the entry of an order pursuant to Rule 26(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED, by and between the attorneys for Plaintiffs and Defendants, as follows:

1. As used herein, “Confidential Material(s)” shall mean the following documents, or any and all information contained within those documents:

- a. Plans, drawings, renderings and other documents that reveal the physical layout of DOC facilities, including points of ingress and egress; and
- b. Any other documents or information that the Parties’ counsel agree, in writing, to be confidential.

Designation of Confidential Materials

2. Any Party required to produce documents (the “producing Party”) may designate documents that it produces or discloses in this action, or information contained within those documents, as “Confidential Materials” by writing or stamping “CONFIDENTIAL” on top of the first page of each set of documents containing such information that it sends to the receiving Party. It shall not be necessary for any producing Party to mark individual pages of documents as “CONFIDENTIAL” as long as the producing Party produces such documents with a list of the Bates number range(s) designated as Confidential Materials.

3. No document or information shall be deemed “Confidential Materials” to the extent that it is: (i) properly obtained by the receiving Party from a source other than the producing Party; or (ii) otherwise publicly available.

Inadvertent Disclosure of Confidential Materials

4. The inadvertent production of Confidential Materials without appropriate designation of confidentiality shall not be deemed a waiver of any claim of their status as Confidential Materials. Upon receiving reasonable notice from the producing Party that Confidential Materials have not been appropriately designated, all such information shall be re-designated promptly as Confidential Materials and treated accordingly.

Use of Confidential Materials

5. All Confidential Materials obtained in this litigation shall be used by a receiving Party, or any attorney retained by a receiving Party, solely for the prosecution or defense of the claims and affirmative defenses in this litigation, and shall not be used by the receiving Party in any other legal action, administrative proceeding, or arbitration, or for any business, commercial, competitive, personal, publicity, media, or other purpose.

6. Unless otherwise ordered by the Court or agreed to by the Parties in writing, Confidential Material may be disclosed only to:

- a. counsel representing the Parties, employees of counsel or counsel's office, persons acting under counsel's supervision, co-counsel or attorneys assisting with this action, and employees and independent contractors of counsel who are directly involved in the preparation, litigation or defense of this action;
- b. the officers, employees or vendors of DOC or other City agency who are either required or requested by counsel to assist in the preparation, litigation, or defense of this action;
- c. the Parties' experts and consultants, as necessary for the preparation, litigation, or defense of this action in accordance with the procedures set forth in Paragraph 8 of this Stipulation and Protective Order;

- d. any deponent, witness, or potential deponent or potential witness, for purposes of investigation, preparation, deposition, or trial in this action only, who authored or otherwise had access to and familiarity with the document or information at the time of its original creation and use, or had familiarity with or possessed knowledge of facts and circumstances of the action to which the document or information relates in accordance with the procedures set forth in Paragraph 8 of this Stipulation and Protective Order, or for whom there is a legitimate basis to question them regarding the document;
- e. the OCC and any staff member or expert engaged by OCC for monitoring purpose;
- f. any other persons as to whom the Parties agree in writing in accordance with the procedures set forth in Paragraph 8 of this Stipulation and Protective Order;
- g. court reporters, as necessary for the conduct of this litigation; and
- h. the Court and its staff.

7. As used herein, disclosure of Confidential Materials by a receiving Party includes the written or oral transmission of the document or information designated as Confidential Material.

8. Any Party in possession of Confidential Materials shall disclose such material, including the information contained therein, to a person identified in sub-paragraphs 6(c), 6(d), and/or 6(f) of this Stipulation and Protective Order only after: (a) advising such person that, pursuant to this Protective Order, he or she may not divulge such information to any other individual or entity; and (b) such person executes a Non-Disclosure Agreement in the form annexed hereto as Exhibit A. The Party in possession of Confidential Material must retain each signed Non-Disclosure Agreement, hold it in escrow, and upon request provide it to the producing Party either before such person is permitted to testify (at deposition or trial), or at the conclusion of the case, whichever comes first.

9. Deposition testimony concerning any Confidential Materials that reveals the contents of such materials shall be deemed confidential, and the transcript that includes such testimony, together with any exhibits consisting of Confidential Materials, shall be prominently marked "CONFIDENTIAL." This transcript shall be deemed to be Confidential Materials within the meaning of this Stipulation and Protective Order.

10. If any paper that incorporates any Confidential Information or reveals the contents of Confidential Information is filed with the Court, the party submitting those papers shall seek the Court's permission to file those papers or portions of papers under seal in accordance with the rules of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York and the individual rules of the judge to whom the papers are directed.

11. A receiving Party who believes that a producing Party has designated information "Confidential" that is not entitled to such protection may write a letter to the producing Party asking that the Confidential Materials designation be removed or modified and explaining the reason(s) why the receiving Party does not believe that the information is entitled to the designated protection. The producing Party shall have a reasonable time under the circumstances in which to respond to the receiving Party either by removing or modifying the confidentiality designation or by providing the reason(s) why the producing Party believes that the confidentiality designation is proper. If the producing Party does not respond or refuses to remove or modify the confidentiality designation, the receiving Party may seek relief from the Court.

12. Except as provided herein, nothing in this Stipulation and Protective Order is intended to restrict, limit, supersede, modify or amend any federal, state or local statute, ordinance or other law limiting the disclosure of Confidential Material, or the applicability of the attorney/client privilege or work product doctrine, or of any other privilege or doctrine that would exempt Confidential Material from disclosure.

Miscellaneous Provisions

13. This Stipulation and Protective Order shall be without prejudice to the right of any Party to oppose production of any document or information on any and all grounds other than confidentiality.

14. Within 60 days after the termination of this case, including any appeals, any Confidential Materials, including all copies, notes, and other materials containing or referring to information derived therefrom, shall be returned to counsel for the producing Party or, upon the written consent of the producing Party's counsel, shall be destroyed, except that counsel for the Parties may each retain one copy of any deposition transcript and one final copy of all papers filed with the Court that contain or refer to Confidential Materials, which would otherwise be subject to the terms of this paragraph. Such papers and deposition transcripts which may be retained in accordance with this paragraph shall be conspicuously marked "Contains Confidential Material Subject to Protective Order". Counsel may also retain any Confidential Materials as necessary to comply with the Rules of Professional Conduct or other law. All receiving Parties or persons who have possessed Confidential Materials shall verify the return or destruction of those Confidential Materials (with the exception set forth in the previous sentence in this paragraph) by affidavit furnished to counsel for the producing Party.

15. Nothing in this Stipulation and Protective Order shall be construed to limit or expand any producing Party's authority to use the Confidential Materials that it produces in any manner.

16. The Parties reserve the right to seek modification of this Stipulation and Protective Order by application to the Court for good cause shown.

17. This Stipulation and Protective Order may be signed in counterparts, which taken together shall be construed as a single document.

18. Emailed or faxed copies of signatures of this Stipulation and Protective Order shall have the same force and effect as original signatures.

19. At the trial of this Action, or at any hearing relating to this Action, before any judicial officer, subject to paragraph 10 above, the Rules of Evidence, and any order of the Court, a Party may use Confidential Materials for any purpose, provided that a minimum of seven days notice is given to Counsel for the opposing Party to obtain appropriate protection from the Court.
